

JUSTICE FOR STARBUCKS WORKERS

Not only does Starbucks not pay its fair share of taxes - depriving public services of much-needed funds - it also doesn't pay its workers a fair share.

Starbucks refuses to pay its staff at least the living wage - in London £8.55 per hour - and is freezing pay for many staff next year.

Starbucks refuses to recognise trade unions - many Starbucks workers are GMB members - and has no collective bargaining arrangements.

Starbucks is currently planning to cut staff lunch breaks, cut paid sick leave and cut maternity benefits.

Workers can join GMB online at:

LRC

The LRC campaigns in the Labour Party and trade unions for socialist policies. We campaign on a range of issues including:

- workers' and trade union rights
- resisting cuts to jobs, services and benefits
- public ownership of the banks and finance sector
- tax justice - for the rich and big business to pay
